

LandAid partnership social copy suggestions

LinkedIn

XXX (company name) is delighted to announce our new partnership [continue our partnership] with @LandAid – the property industry charity.

We are joining with other committed companies from the property and wider built environment industry to support young people who are experiencing homelessness across the UK.

Last year, 118,000 young people between 16–24 years–old approached their local council for housing support. Sadly, we know this number is rapidly growing.

Our support is needed now more than ever. Together, we can form a more stable and supportive environment for young people who have nowhere else to turn.

Together we can #EndYouthHomelessness

#Property #BuiltEnvironment

Instagram

XXX (company name) is delighted to announce our new partnership [continue our partnership] with @landaidcharity

We are joining with other committed companies from the property and wider built environment industry to support young people who are experiencing homelessness across the UK.

Last year, 118,000 young people between 16–24 years–old approached their local council for housing support. Sadly, we know this number is rapidly growing.

